| 0915-1015 | This session will address the challenge of sustaining tourism promotion and keeping pace with the rate of change as technology, social media and adoption of new devices grow and evolve at an incredible pace. Destinations and travel businesses now find themselves working in a travel market that decides how it wants you to communicate with them, creates and shares more content than you do and can do a better job of selling your products than you do. All of these are critical considerations for travel marketing. We will look at the digital tools and strategies that are now essential for a successful travel business or destination.
Speaker: Damian Cook, CEO, E-Tourism Frontiers, Kenya |
| 1015-1035 | Coffee break |
| 1035-1135 | Session 2: Visitor Experience: The modern connected traveller is increasingly seeking an experience, ideally one that is authentic and unique. The better the experience, the higher the value they place upon it, and in a market driven by social media, sharing of experiences and reviews a guest positive experience is a valuable resource. In this session we will discuss how user experience can be shaped and improved and used as part of a marketing strategy.
Speaker: Greg Klassen, Partner, Twenty31, Canada |
1135-1300  Lunch Break

1300-1600  Workshop on Community Based Tourism: Community Based Tourism (CBT) has become a popular marketing term, but what does it really mean? This session will touch base on the concept and how a community best approaches tourism projects and the varying model of success worldwide and discuss what travelers are seeking when they look for authentic community experiences and how culture can be practically capitalized without negative impact or loss of identity and how change in culture can become part of the positive tourism experience. The action plan and the way to move forward will be identified. Delegates will learn how to generate business while remaining sustainably conscious.
